About the Workshop
Research indicates that counselors, as well as faith-based caregivers, often encounter individuals they serve who may have experienced domestic Abuse, and yet their training does not adequately prepare them for dealing with the complexities of these situations. This workshop will provide participants with an overview of the tools for screening, assessment, safety planning, and best practices for counseling and supporting family members and the communities affected by domestic abuse, the impact of law enforcement and the criminal justice system involvement, and ways for domestic abuse programs and faith communities to work together.

Learning Objectives
- Develop participants’ understanding of the dynamics of Domestic Abuse
- Outline the ways in which counselors and faith-based caregivers can enhance their position as resources for families and communities impacted by domestic abuse.
- Illustrate how counselors, faith leaders and domestic abuse programs can work together
- Identify the tools for screening, assessment, safety planning, and best practices for counseling and supporting family members and the communities affected by domestic abuse.
